

[SEMICONDUCTOR DEVICE]

Abstract

A semiconductor device having two or more semiconductor chips stacked upon one another in a manner that makes them less susceptible to damage from warping of the semiconductor device.